

Unit 9 Exercise 1 Answer Key

1. Lymph nodes, lymph vessels, spleen, thymus gland, tonsils
2. Drain head and neck and may enlarge during upper respiratory infections
3. Right lymphatic duct or thoracic duct
4. The body's ability to defend itself against pathogens such as bacteria, viruses, fungi, protozoans, toxins, and cancerous tumors.
5. A person can survive without their spleen, however they will be more susceptible to blood stream infections
6. To stimulate the immune response in the body
7. A protective protein called an antibody
8. Cytotoxic cells
9. OSHA
10. Wash or sanitize hands